STUBBORN TOWNS FEARED DAM-AGE SUITS AND MILITIA.

No Yellow Fever in Mississippi-New Orleans Will Continue to Clean Up-Illinois Befuses to Allow Messengers on Banana Trains From the Fever District.

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—Nearly all parishes and towns in Louisiana which have maintained nonintercourse quarantines and embargoes, not only on passenger trains but on freight trains, took down the barrier to-day and withdrew all objections to trains and to freight in fumigated cars. They also agreed to admit passengers from detention camps under the control of the United States Marine Hospital Service. The time of detention was uniformly fixed at five days as against the six, eight, ten and even twenty-one days heretofore insisted on.

The change is attributed partly to the fact that the United States Marine Hospital Service has taken charge of the situation here, and partly to the proclamation of the Governor and State Board of Health threatening damage suits against the illegal quarantine and the use of militia to break them up.

A temporary scare was caused in Mississippi yesterday by the report of a sus-picious case at Holly Springs, which suffered so badly from the yellow fever in 1878, and Yazoo City. When an investigation by the health officers showed the supposed cases to be malarial fever it at once restored confidence. There is now no fever anywhere in Mississippi, and the indications are that there will be a marked loosening up of quarantine next week, even against New Orleans, the people having become convinced that the present quarantine methods adopted by the State board under the advice and direction of the Marine Hospital Service are thoroughly effective. In Louisiana the situation is much better.

It is considered that the fever has been crushed out at Shreveport, Alexandria, Bunkie and Lake Providence, at all of which points there was no spread. It still exists at Tallulah, with two cases; Iberville, two cases; St. Charles, nine cases; Calcasieu, one case; all doing well. The deaths of the five Jefferson parish sick have relieved that parish of the disease, and in Plaquemine all the sick have passed the crisis of the disease.

The only ugly situation is at Patterson. St. Mary parish, about 100 miles from New Orleans, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, and it is because of the Patterson sickness that the quarantines in southwestern Louisiana are so much more rigid than in other parts of the State. There are now twenty-six cases there. The disease is of a mild type and there have been no deaths. Its origin has not yet been determined, but it is believed that it was brought in by Italians from New Orleans suffering from so mild an attack of fever as not to need physicians. When it spread to the natives it did not attract attention at first, being regarded as malarial fever, and it was lot until a few days ago that the examination by Dr. Guiteras determined its severe character.

As so much depends upon an immediate diagnosis of the disease arrangements have been made to transport inspectors at once to the suspected cases reported. At Jackson, Miss., the Illinois Central has a Jackson, Miss., the Illinois Central has a train of an engine and one coach standing ready with steam up, to take the inspecting doctors to any point where fever is reported without a moment's delay. It was this arrangement which assured an instantaneous report in the Holly Springs and Yazoo City cases, and thus prevented a panic.

The proposition of the Post Office Department to abolish the post offices at those towns which refuse to accept mail because of quarantine is also having a good effect in breaking up the more rigid embargoes.

Dr. Tabor, the health officer of Texas, has asked Gov. Lanham, to hold the Texas Rangers ready to be used as quarantine officers should the fever invade Texas.

Rangers ready to be used as quarantine officers should the fever invade Texas.

While the work of cleaning up New Orleans, started by the city authorities, with the assistance of 60,000 householders, accomplished wonders and put the city in a better sanitary condition than it has been for years, it was not entirely complete, although the city forces worked all night although the city loress worked an ingition, using flat cars on the city railroad lines to carry off the dirt, trash and débris. It was determined to keep up the work all the rest of the week, working night and the rest of the carries.

and the fever. The trouble has been than non-enforcement. An example will be made of several prominent doctors, who refuse to report their fever patients, and citizens who fall to screen their cisterns as required by law, after which it is thought there will be no dodging the sanitary laws.

The New Orleans City Council to-day unanimously passed the ordinance appropriating $60,000 to fight the yellow fever here. There was a proposition to make it $100,000, but it was declined as unnecessary, a majority of the Louisiana Legislature having pledged themselves to make an appropriation of $100,000 to crush out the yellow fever. The fiscal agents gave notice to the Marine Hospital Service and the sanitary committee that the money was immediately available and could be drawn on whenever needed.

Father Solignac of New York, nephew of the Archbishop, and after consultation with Dr. White, in charge of the fever situation here, who said that there was not the slightest danger of infection, the funeral ceremonies were postponed until Saturday. The body will be buried under the main altar of the St. Louis Cathedral, where all the former Bishops and Archbishops of New Orleans rest. Telegrams bishops of New Orleans rest. Telegrams of sympathy were received from all the parishes of the diocese and from most of the Catholic Bishops in this country. WIDOW CHARGED WITH MURDER. Mrs. Cobb, Who Said She Mistook Her Husband for a Burglar, Is Arrested.

ROYSTON, Ga., Aug. 10 .- When the grave of State Senator W. H. Cobb, who was shot to death on the veranda of his home at midnight on Tuesday, had been filled this afternoon, an officer stepped up to Mrs. Cobb and arrested her on a charge of murdering her husband. Mrs. Cobb took her arrest calmly and denies that she is guilty of murder, though she admits that she killed her husband.

that she killed her husband.

Mrs. Cobb's story is that she was awakened by a noise at the window of her room, saw a man and, thinking he was a robber, fired twice with a pistol. The man fell and then she discovered that she had killed her husband. Mrs. Cobb also said that her husband was a somnambulist, and she

Republican Insurgents of West Virginia

Line Up.

WHEELING, W. Va.; Aug. 10.—A secret meeting of West Virginia Republican leaders is in progress at Parkersburg, presumably to line up their forces to oppose the reelection of Stephen B. Elkins to the Senate. The meeting is said to be an adjourned session of the insurgents' convention held recently at White Sulphur Springs, and its aim is now more apparent than ever.

The regular Republicans have called the insurgents a faction, but they have lately developed so much strength that the undivided attention of the Senator and his friends has been attracted and they are already getting steam up for the biggest political fight in the history of the State. $7,000,000 STEEL JOB.

Bids Opened for the 48,000 Tens for the Manhattan Bridge.

The contract, which calls for the furnishing and erecting of more than 43,000 tons of steel, will be the largest single steel job ever let by the city. The engineers of the Bridge Department estimated that the work would cost about $7,400,000, and as four out of the five bids range around this estimate Mr. Best will not award the contract until he and his engineers have examined the merits of the four offers. It is not unlikely, however, that the contract will go to the Pennsylvania Steel Company, which is the lowest bidder, and which built the Williamsburg Bridge superstructure and is the sucburg Bridge superstructure and is the suc-cessful contractor for the steel work of the

MAN INSANE IN A LIGHTHOUSE

2 NIGHTS OF TERROR FOR COM-RADE ON STRATFORD SHOALS.

Assistant Keeper Tried to Stop Plash Machinery and to End His Own Life Only Other Man in Tower Fought Him and Kept Beacon Blazing Unaided.

PORT JEFFERSON, L. I.; Aug. 10 .- One day recently Second Assistant Julius Coster of Stratford Shoals light, which is out in the Sound midway between this place and the entrance to the Stratford River, was rowed ashore by Keeper Gilbert H. Ruland. They went to the house of a physician and then Ruland went back to the lights. Coster was in the village a few hours and then boarded a westbound train and has not been seen here since, nor has he been back to the light. He is out of the Government service as a result of two nights of agony he gave Assistant Keeper Merrill Hulse, just before he was brought ashore. For two nights the men were locked up in the tower with Coster a raving madman. His comrades say that he attempted to kill himself and was hacking at his throat when Keeper Ruland reached the light.

During this time of the year the men take all the liberty they can, for when the stormy weather comes they are sometimes held in the tower for weeks.

Coster had a turn of a week ashore re-cently and spent it in the village. When he went back it was Hulse's turn to come ashore, but Keeper Ruland had business and he and Hulse exchanged two days of their turns.

When Coster reached the light in the boat there was considerable swell on, and when he and the keeper exchanged places in the boat the keeper noticed nothing wrong about his second assistant, who climbed the ladder and went into the tower Ruland came ashore and remained two days. The two nights were such as First Assistant Hulse says he never wants to see again.

Coster at first seemed to be in a stupor, so Hulse told him to go and sleep. That afternoon. Hulse says, Coster broke out raving. Hulse stood watch all night with raving. Hulse stood watch all night with the light and kept Coster below after Coster had once ascended to the light and stopped the revolving lens. It was only for a flash or two, but Hulse would not allow his asor two, but Hulse would not allow his assistant to again enter the upper chambers. The second day Coster was worse than before and raved, and Hulse says he fought with imaginary things he believed were pursuing him. Hulse did what he could for him, but when night approached had to leave him alone. Hulse had made ready the lamp again, and without sleep prepared to spend another night with the light. After the lamp was lighted Coster tried to ascend, but after a struggle Hulse forced him down and into his room. Later in the night Hulse descended to see how his companion was getting on, to find him

Mrs. Annie Louise Madden, who is suing her husband, John E. Madden, the Kentucky turfman, for a separation in Ohlo, and who is being sued by him for divorce in Kentucky, left this city last night for Saratoga. She was accompanied by her lawyers, E. J. McCrossin of Brooklyn and William L. Dickson of Ohio. The object of their journey is to serve an order on Madden requiring him to appear before Referee William T. Moore, District At-Referee William T. Moore, District Attorney of Saratoga county, and submit to cross-examination regarding allegations he made in his Kentucky suit.

Justice Kruse of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn early last evening vacated the stay in the matter granted at Madden's quest by Justice Kellogg at Ogdensburg recently. Mr. McCrossin said Madden's recently. Mr. McCrossin said Madden's object in getting a stay until Sept. 4 was to enable him to get out of this State and avoid the cross-examination.

Earlier in the day Justice Kruse signed an order which requires that the testimony to be taken in Saratoga be sealed until Mrs. Madden's suit in progress. The order to be taken in Saratoga be sealed until Mrs. Madden's suit is in progress. The order was secured by one of Madden's lawyers, who said the intention was to prevent Albert Simons from seeing the testimony until Mrs. Madden's suit is up for trial in Cincinnati. Simons is suing Madden for slander, the turfman having, it is alleged, characterized Simons and his wife as unfit persons for his wife to associate with.

HINRICHS OPPOSES DISTRICT AT-TORNEY'S PROGRAM.

Admits That He Doesn't Speak by Authority of the Citizens' Union, but Thinks the Nominating Committee Agrees With Him-Jerome, However, Doesn't.

Frederic W. Hinrichs, the permanent chairman of the Citizens' Union convention which is to meet again in September to make nominations, issued yesterday a statement urging the nomination of District Attorney Jerome for Mayor. When the statement was first given out yesterday it was regarded as an official announcement from the Citizens' Union, but Mr Hinrichs denied that there was anything official about it. He added, though, that while it was a personal expression of his own he thought it represented the feelings of the majority of the Citizens' Union's committee on nominations.

Mr. Jerome has repeatedly stated that while he wants to be District Attorney again nothing would induce him to run on an independent ticket for Mayor. To some of those who have dangled before his eyes the bait of an independent Mayoralty nomination Mr. Jerome has said that the only chance of beating Mayor McClellan would be to have a candidate who would have behind him every anti-Tammany organization in the city and that as it was certain that the Republican organization would put forward a candidate of its own he would not risk political suicide by consenting to head an independent ticket. These are some of the paragraphs which went to make up the statement given out by Mr. Hinrichs:

went to make up the statement given out by Mr. Hinrichs:

We must not forget that Mr. Jerome's influence is felt quite beyond the county of New York. The great consolidated city requires his services. The good which could be accomplished for the metropolis and indirectly for all municipalities by an administration of a Mayor like Jerome, can hardly be overestimated.

I have heard it said that if Jerome were Mayor he would either be the most popular executive this or any city has ever seen or that he would be lynched. This statement has half of the truth, at least. It means that Jerome is a positive man. Every one understands his character and his disposition. Every man knows what he intends to do in any given situation. He calls a spade a spade. He is no respecter of persons. He is popular in the crowded tenement districts, but no less so almong the denizens of Fifth avenue. All believe him to be a man of his word, to be honest and untainted. This is the type of man we need, at this time especially, in prominent stations both in the world of business and the world of politics. It is impossible to get such a man by means of the ordinary channels of politics. Such a man would always be troublesome to the machines and defeat their purely called a ima. Such a man would always be troublesome to the machines and defeat their purely selfish aims. A machine wants men in office who will be loyal to it, even though this involve disloyalty to the interests of the city.

RIG FIGHTERS READY.

Gus Ruhlin and Jim McCormick to Meet at Colma, Cal., To-night. There is no lack of interest in the tw round bout between Gus Ruhlin and Jim McCormick of Texas at the Colma A. C., Colma, Cal., to-night. Although no championship is involved, the affair may be con-sidered an important one, for the victor will sooner or later receive a chance to meet Marvin Hart, who is regarded as the heavyweight champion at present. The public knows very little about McCormick, consequently his chances of beating the Akron Giant are not taken at all seriously. He is reported as being a husky, strong heavy-weight, but whether he can cope successfully with Ruhlin's experience and clever-weight, but whether he can cope successfully with Ruhlin's experience and cleverness is a question.

It is predicted in many quarters that McCormick will some day be the heavy-weight champion. John L. Sullivan, who is manager of the Texan, thinks that McCormick is the real thing in the "pug" line. He declares that he is a scientific two hand fighter and capable of knocking out a man without much of an effort. If he possesses any of these qualities Ruhlin will certainly be the man to bring them out.

In New York betting on the fight has not been vigorous. Ruhlin is looked upon to have such clear sailing that the patrons of the ring who are invariably down with a bet on a heavyweight scrap are afraid to speculate. Several small wagers on the number of rounds the contest is expected to go have been made. The popular guess is about six rounds, with Ruhlin the victor, of course. Ruhlin is past 30, while McCormick is still in his twenties. Ruhlin is the favorite at 2 to 1.

In point of condition there is not much to choose between the pair. Both have been hard at work for weeks. Ruhlin has everything to lose in this mill. If he is whipped it means his relegation to the ranks of has beens. But if he is successful he will get a chance to face Hart some time next month, probably on Labor Day. As the game is in need of good heavyweights the outcome of to-night's essay will be awaited with a good deal of interest.

Fears the Kind of a Campaign He Loves Would Hurt His Health-Letter to Quincy a Campaign Document-Ridicules Probable Republican Nominees.

WORCESTER, Mass.; Aug. 10 .- Ex-Conressman John R. Thayer, in a letter to the Hon. Josiah Quincy of Boston, chairman of the Democratic State committee, declines to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Ever since Gov. Douglas declined a renomination Mr. Thayer has been prominently mentioned as his successor at the head of the Democratic ticket. Mr. Quincy, as chairman of the State committee, wrote Mr. Thayer vesterday asking him if he would accept the nomination, and to-day Mr. Thayer re-

"MY DEAR MR. QUINCY: Your esteemed favor of yesterday, asking in substance if I will be the candidate of our party for the office of Governor this year, is received.

"I note the very complimentary things you state with reference to myself in connection with this high office. I dislike exceedingly to disappoint any who have and who feel that I would make a creditable candidate for the office. "I am convinced that our party is substantially united this year and has made great advancement during the last three years, that the prospect of success is now a great deal brighter and better than it was one year ago to-day, that our party is the only party which believes and is earnestly in favor of reciprocity with Canada and and the honor of a nomination, which the leaders of the party confidently assert is ready to be conferred upon me, is one of the greatest honors the party can confer. "These considerations and many others that might be mentioned have not been overlooked in my consideration of the matter. I have tried to see my way clear to accept the nomination if conferred upon me, but there are other considerations, purely personal to myself, which impel me to decide that I must not, and cannot, be the candidate. "If I should be a candidate; it would necessitate my going among the people throughout the State, and especially in those parts of the State where I am least known. I should wish to carry on a very active and agressive campaign. I am committed to this style of campaigning. "I am enjoying very good health at present and can well attend to the duties of my profession, but am confident that the intense excitement and exactions of a campaign such as I feel the party would be entitled to if I were a candidate, and such as I would like to make so far as any one man can make a campaign, might very seriously and injuriously affect my health.

"You will remember that three years ago after my Congressional campaign, I suffered for a long time with nervous exhaus tion and collapse, and not until very recently have I fully recovered from the effects of that illness. I feel in duty bound to myself and my family to heed the warning then given and not enter upon any extra nerve destroying work at present.

This will not be a difficult task if the people vote as they talk and write, if they mean business and are not only for show on dress parade. Our opponents are destined to make an exhibition of themselves in placing 'an extermist of the stand patters' and avowed won't-budge-an-inch candidate in second place on the ticket, and at the head of the ticket one who until recently has taken his reciprocity, if at all, in homeopathic doses, but now seems to be in the position in which a teacher of a young lady's school was, who, when asked by a patron if she taught that the earth was round or flat, replied, 'Either way—just as my patrons "These two ill mated candidates are to be prominated on a platform presumably favor-
